S2 AMPED

The AMPED series is pioneering an entirely new technology in the Pickleball industry with its FiberFlex Fiberglass face and patent pending thicker X5 polypropylene core. The revolutionary thicker paddle core provides an unparalleled degree of power and control along with many other performance benefits!

This paddle is available in lightweight (7.4-7.8 oz) and mid weight (7.9-8.4 oz) options. It features a 4.5" handle and an oversized, traditional paddle face.

It is favored by players with experience in racquetball, table tennis, and squash and is a good choice for intermediate players.

This paddle sports a familiar shape and one of the largest sweet spots in the industry. It is somewhat "head-heavy," due to the shorter handle and expanded paddle face, but for players with above average control of their paddles, and above average reaction time, this model will deliver good power and more than adequate feel at the kitchen line. It generates decent pop on smashes and ground strokes. It also features the thicker "AMPED" core, which enhances its stability and control. The shorter handle length takes a bit getting used to, and won't work well for players with large hands unless they are comfortable with an index finger on the back of the paddle face. If your playing strategy features consistently deep service returns and quick put aways at the kitchen line, this model is worth a test drive.
