ELECTRUM PRO

TECHNOLOGY MEETS DESIGN

Designed in California, Electrum Pickleball provides an elite paddle for competitive players.

State of the Art Carbon Fiber paddle providing the perfect blend of power and control. Features polypropylene core layered with unpainted premium Toray T700 raw carbon fiber. Shunning the cool and colorful graphics offered in today's paddle marketplace, and focusing on performance, the PRO design features a natural understated matte look in powerful black and gold that declares, "I'm here to play."

7.75-8.2 oz.

Electrum Pickleball is a new, California based, force in competition style paddles and pickleball accessories. The first thing you notice is how the paddle arrives at your doorstep. Packaged in a shiny black upscale box, cushioned in form fitting styrofoam, and protected with sticky film like your last new iPhone, it looks like you ordered it from Barney's, New York. And it comes with its own protective, zippered sleeve. But none of this would matter much if it wasn't playable. But it's definitely playable....well balanced with excellent power, maneuverability, and finely tuned touch. And, thanks to the raw carbon fiber finish, it offers incredible spin control. Minor disclaimer, my son, Ryan, is part of the Electrum player team, so if you want better information than I can provide, just call Ryan. (818-425-3234)
